Role of home telemonitoring of lung function using the Forced Oscillation Technique in assessing and predicting asthma control: a pragmatic, observational trial.

Thank you for submitting a response to ethics on the 2 January 2020 in regards to the above research study. The following documents have been reviewed and approved by the Chair and Executive Officer on behalf of the Sydney Local Health District Human Research Ethics Committee – Concord Repatriation General Hospital:

- Master Participant Information Sheet and Consent Form Version 3.0 dated 01/01/2020
- Highlighted Participant Information Sheet and Consent Form Version 3.0 dated 01/01/2020
- Re-consent letter Version 1.3 dated 01/01/2020
- Withdrawal of participation form Version 1.0 dated 01/01/2020
- Action plan for re-consenting process Version 1.1 dated 01/01/2020
- Study protocol Version 2.0 dated 01/01/2020
- Instructions for FOT monitoring – Resmon Device Version 2.0 dated 6/12/2019
- Instructions for PEF monitoring (using SpiroPD) version 1.0 dated 6/12/2019

I am pleased to advise that all outstanding matters have been adequately addressed and the recruitment suspension that was issued on the 12 April 2019 has been retracted. Please proceed with implementing the approved action plan process for re-consenting participants.

You are asked to provide an update on the status of the re-consenting process by Monday 9 March 2020. Any issues in regards to this process should be reported to Kate Flinders, Executive Officer of the Sydney Local Health District Human Research Ethics Committee – CRGH on 02 9767 5622.

Your sincerely,

Professor David Le Couteur
Chairman

Sydney Local Health District Human Research Ethics Committee – CRGH
